The 2020 Vintage:

The inside 2020 story is that the growing season was nearly ideal. The first three months of the year were relatively dry, budbreak took place in mid-April, light rain during flowering led to lovely small berries and clusters, and wide temperature swings resulted in a beautiful crop heading into harvest. The September wildfires changed the tempo of the crush, but the Cloudline dedication to quality and deliciousness never wavered. This meant making less wine due to strict selections, but you'd expect nothing less.

Tasting Notes:

The 2020 Cloudline color is a deep ruby, with a dense texture, deft balance, and a fruit-driven core. Aromatics include plum, cranberry, a touch of toast, and various dark fruits. Well integrated tannins lead to a pleasing and complete finish, in a word, delicious.
