delicious, flavour-filled, disease-free fruit.

Merlot grapes for this wine come from silt/clay loam soils in the beautiful Patutahi Valley in Gisborne - the first wine region in New Zealand to see the rising sun each morning.

The 2022 season started with a damp spring following hot on the heels of above average winter rainfall. Budburst was earlier than in 2021, and the vines' potential for the 2022 season was there for all to see! Settled weather in late spring led to a good flowering and made for healthy canopies that were well poised to carry the fruit through to ripening. However, January and February saw tropical rain from the Pacific sweep through the Gisborne region. It was a nail-biting season, but luckily our later-ripening Merlot survived the storms unscathed and headed into harvest with larger than normal berries and

Bunches of merlot were machine-picked in the first hours of daylight so that the grapes would stay fresh and flavour-packed in the cooler morning temperatures. Once at the winery, the grapes were crushed and pressed immediately. They were then gently pressed off the skins and fermentation was kicked off with an aromatic yeast. Temperatures were

Perfect for hot weather drinking, this wine is a great match for tasty summer salads - try it with a plate of fresh tomatoes and basil drizzled with oilive oil, or with a platter of cured meats and antipasti. For something a little more substantial, try it served with pulled pork Winemaker's Notes: Color: This wine is a beautiful very pale apricot pink. Nose: The smell of summer in a glass: loads of raspberries and strawberries sit alongside lashings of nectarine, rock melon and grilled pineapple with yummy hints of vanilla ice cream. Palate: This dry Rosé is packs a punch with raspberry and strawberry flavours filling the palate. A touch of spice and a juicy, lip-smacking finish make this an ideal summer's day sipper that will leave you reaching for another glass. Serve chilled.

Exquisite and fine, the wine shows white flesh stone fruit, lemon pith, strawberry and floral aromas on the nose, followed by an elegantly weighted palate offering bright fruit flavours with fine focus and silky flow. Vibrant and mouth-watering with a charming finish. At its best: now to 2024. Also: Raymond Chan Wine Reviews-92 Pts.
